During these challenging times, with increasing competition, learn how to capitalize on your shortlist presentation opportunities. In this highly interactive workshop, we help you create chemistry and connect with your audience. You'll learn to relax, be yourself and communicate your message with passion, clarity, and confidence. Through teaching, discussion, theater exercises and individual coaching during this two-part program, you will learn to:

- Create chemistry, trust and connect with your audience
- Identify and drop your nervous habits
- Prepare and practice your material
- Make technical material interesting
- Use graphics and props wisely
